Purpose/Aims

Staffordshire County Council's Recovery Plan was devised in the context of COVID-19. This plan incorporated several projects across SCC services, including the Educational Psychology Service (EPS) to support educational settings in the aftermath of emergency restrictions. The EPS devised materials in several areas with the aim of providing educational settings with support that could be accessed immediately in the new academic year, without the need to refer into the service directly.

Extended absence from educational settings has exacerbated existing needs, meaning intervention and support is required to return pupils to regular attendance. Additionally, the contextual experience of COVID-19 has led to increased levels of school non-attendance (SNA).

This document aims to provide educational settings with guidance that highlights good practice/recommendations/resources and enables them to work collaboratively with parents/carers to support children and young people (CYP) with unmet needs, where school non-attendance is then present as an outcome. A key objective of the guidance is to facilitate educational settings in their planning, assessment and intervention with school non-attendance, at a school level.

It is acknowledged that school non-attendance can be complex and involvement from other services/professionals can be advantageous, appropriate and, at times, necessary. However, the aims/scope of the current guidance is to support early and effective intervention for school non-attendance, which could prevent the level of need escalating further and promote positive outcomes for the child or young person (CYP).

Stages of Exploration for School Non-Attendance (SNA)

This booklet (2) provides a framework for practice for the stages of SNA exploration detailed above. The stages of exploration (2-5) and summary/action planning (6) should happen within a short time frame (ideally 2/3 weeks) to ensure the support provided is implemented as early as possible. The 'do' stage will be agreed within the action planning process and should be individualised to the CYP, along with the agreed time frame for the review to take place.

Please take the time to explore/read booklet 1, prior to using booklet 2, it provides essential information and guidance for SNA exploration/action planning.

Stage One – Early Indicators Checklist

This checklist can be used with parents/carers to quickly screen for any early indicators of challenges with school attendance. Schools may wish to use this if a parent/carer mentions concerns, staff notice changes themselves or in communications with their community of parents/carers/staff about school attendance.

Any use of this checklist should result in a conversation/discussion about next steps, to explore possible concerns further and any support required.

It can also be used as a prompt tool for staff, to heighten awareness of early indicators.

Part 1: Changes in attitude towards school

- Reluctance to engage in school related activities
- Talking negatively about school
- Sharing worries about particular aspects of school
- Becoming distressed when school is talked about
- Avoiding getting ready for school
- Worried about falling behind and/or catching up with school work

Part 2: Signs of Worry

- Showing signs of being worried:
  - headaches
  - stomach aches
  - low appetite
  - increased heart rate
  - difficulty concentrating
  - trembling
  - shortness of breath
  - difficulty sleeping
- Becoming worried on separation from parent/carer
- Worried about family and friends

Part 3: Changes in behaviour

- Becoming withdrawn
  - Spending increasing amount of time alone in their bedroom
  - Avoiding trips outside of the home
  - Reduced social 'contact' with family and friends

- Engaging in self-harming behaviours

Stage Two

Profile screening for pupils at risk of school non-attendance

The rating scales below should be used to explore feelings of safety and vulnerability for pupils. This should form part of the early explorations but could also be used as a progress/check in tool.

This activity should be completed by the child/young person but can also be completed by the parent(s)/carer(s) too.

Staff should consider whether any adaptations need to be made to support the C/YPs access to the activity e.g., use of images, language use.

The 6 psychological needs for normal healthy learning and development

The 6 areas below are derived from research and are the essential psychological needs for healthy and successful child/young people's learning and development. Scale (1 to 10) each of these needs to indicate the overall vulnerability of a young person at risk of having SNA needs. 'Scale scores' of 3 or below for each of these 6 areas of need indicates a pupil who is at 'high level of risk' and 'vulnerability'.

1.The need to feel emotionally and physically safe: This is the fundamental need of all young people to feel safe in their 'environment'. Initially, this is provided by parents or carers, and later by school and community.

2.The need to belong: This is the emotional need for young people to feel that they 'belong'. It is initially provided by parents and family and later can be provided by friends, school and community and membership of sports teams, clubs, hobby groups or religious groups. The importance of 'belonging' is to feel accepted by 'significant others' who at times of distress and anxiety provide unconditional support and reassurance.

3.The need to have a positive 'sense of self' as a learner: This is the essential need for life-long learning. This process first develops within a family and is continued in nursery, school and community with the support of significant others e.g. friends, teachers, teacher assistants, social workers, mentors and community workers.

4.The need to feel 'empowered': The 'empowering process' starts in infancy within a family setting and is nurtured in nursery, school and community. It involves a young person having a 'voice' that is listened to, respected and acted upon. This process is vital in developing a young person's self-confidence, independence and identity.

5.The need to make choices: This need is linked to the empowering process above and involves young people being given the opportunity and responsibility for making choices (and making mistakes) in their life. It can involve daily choices such as personal hygiene, eating habits, dress code, and lifestyle and educational choices, e.g. music, friends, school subjects, leaving home, career choosing a partner.

6.The need for enjoyment while learning: This need is arguably the psychological need that most defines us as 'human beings'. It is the 'enjoyment' or 'flow' experienced when using our skills and abilities to meet life's challenges and to achieve our personal goals and ambitions. This is a learning process that involves taking and accepting risks. It is not to be confused with leisure and pleasure.

Stage Three – 4 Broad Areas of Need

SEND (special educational needs and disability) has been identified as a key contributing factor to school non-attendance. It is important that staff explore the four broad areas of need to establish whether there are any unmet SEND needs for the CYP.

This stage is incorporated into the booklet to encourage key adults to gather information in relation to SEND needs, so they are included in the holistic picture of SNA and action planning stages. Even if the CYP has support in place already e.g., on the school's SEN register, has an Education, Health and Care Plan, these needs/provision should be considered/reviewed within this process.

The table below can also be helpful to gather information within secondary school settings, by sharing it with all the CYP's teachers and asking them to contribute to each section.

1. What are the CYP's primary areas of need?
2. What are some of the CYP's strengths and interests?
3. Communication and Interaction: Please describe the CYP's strengths and any needs in this area.
4. Cognition and Learning: Please describe the CYP's strengths and any needs in this area, including academic skills and attitude to learning.

5. Social, Emotional, and Mental Health: Please describe the CYP's strengths and any needs in this area.

6. Physical and Sensory: Please describe the CYP's strengths and any needs in this area.

7. What strategies have been implemented to support this CYP? Have any been effective?

8. Is there any other information you would like to share about this CYP?

Stage Four – Risk and Protective Factors

CYP Name:	Date:
Name of Person Completing this summary:
Who contributed to this information (e.g. CYP, staff names, parents/carers, professionals)?

Guidance

Ideally, this activity would be completed during a meeting with staff, parents/carers and all professionals involved. This allows for multiple perspectives to be gathered and then discussion to take place if any perspectives differ.

Example format for a meeting:

1. Purpose of information gathering explained, along with key messages e.g., some statements can be challenging to read in isolation/print, to allow a shared understanding to be reached, curious rather than judgemental.
2. All at the meeting complete the risk/protective factors checklist individually. At this stage whoever knows the parent/carer best should sit with them and support them during this process. Offering guidance when needed, but also support for reading statements that need to be handled sensitively.
3. The facilitator then brings the group back together. Attendees are asked to share their perspective on different risk/protective factors, including the reasonings for their ratings. Start with high/medium risk factors and low protective factors.
4. The group can either agree on a shared rating or agree that any risk factors rated as high (by just one person) are recorded as high and the same with low protective factors.
5. The facilitator records a summary of the discussion and a collective summary of risk/protective factors and their corresponding ratings (use table on p19.).
6. Any immediate actions can be agreed, or the information can be summarised and shared/discussed/acted on in the 'action planning' meeting stage (so long as this is being held in a timely manner).

If the meeting above is not feasible, these checklists should be completed by staff in discussion with the parent/carer, NOT presented to them to complete in isolation. Some of the areas within this checklist need to be explored sensitively and in a supportive context. Staff can however use this as a framework when engaging in discussions with the CYP or parents/carers, to allow them to provide ratings that are based on richer information, if it is not possible to arrange a meeting with everyone present.

The 'risk' and 'protective' factors card sorting activity (stage 4.2) can be used to help elicit the CYP's views in this area.

It would be beneficial to consider completing this checklist at future time points too e.g., reviews, timed intervals, to monitor the CYP's progress in response to support/intervention.

If there are any areas within the 'risk factors' checklist rated as 'low', staff should continue to monitor them and respond accordingly. For areas within the 'risk factors' checklist that are rated as 'med' or 'high', it would be appropriate for these to be explored further and included within the action plan/support.

The 'protective factors' checklist should be used to help identify the CYP's strengths and areas which can be drawn on to make their educational experience more successful and positive. However, any 'low' ratings could indicate support in that area may be beneficial.

Guidance

This card sorting activity has been created to help gain the CYP's view of possible SNA 'risk' and 'protective' factors which have been included in the corresponding checklist. Some of the statements have been reworded to make them more accessible and positive.

The activity should be carried out by an adult that the CYP has a positive and secure relationship with. It is important that enough time has been protected to complete this activity. It is possible that discussing some of these sensitive areas could lead the CYP to become upset, so there needs to be freedom to extend the session if required.

The CYP should be told that the aim of the activity it is to help staff explore if there are any areas that need support, but also to identify positives. Category headings, 'not true, sometimes true and often true', have been included, but these can be adapted to meet individual needs/situations. These headings should be placed in front of the CYP and discussed prior to beginning the activity. The adult should then pass the CYP each picture card and read it to them/explain its meaning. The CYP should then be asked to place each one under the heading they feel is most appropriate.

It is important that it is not just viewed as an activity to be ticked off; if there are any areas that need exploring further, this should take place. Staff should also ask questions to gain richer information e.g., if it asks about friends/teachers then ask the CYP which teacher/friend they are thinking of or ask why they have placed a particular card under a specific heading. The table included (p21-22) can be used to mark the CYP's responses during the activity and note down any comments/discussion that takes place.

Once completed the information should be considered to identify areas of need/strength and the most appropriate support. The CYP should also be asked if they have any ideas what might make things better/easier e.g., if for 'I feel safe and secure in school' they responded with 'not true' then ask them if there is anything that makes them feel safe/anything adults can do to make them feel safer. It is important that any views are shared sensitively with parents/carers, so the support agreed is consistent across contexts, and outcomes can be worked towards collaboratively.

Stage Five

C/YP Card Sorting Activities

Guidance

These card sorting activities have been created to help gain the CYP's views about their educational experience and current situation.

The activities should be carried out by an adult that the CYP has a positive and secure relationship with. It is important that enough time has been protected to complete these activities. It is possible that discussing some of these sensitive areas could lead the CYP to become upset, so there needs to be freedom to extend the session if required.

The CYP should be told that the aim of the activities e.g. it is to help staff explore if there are any areas that need support, but also to identify positives. Category headings have been included, but these can be adapted to meet individual needs/situations. These headings should be placed in front of the CYP and discussed prior to beginning the activities. The adult should then pass the CYP each card and read it to them/explain its meaning. The CYP should then be asked to place each one under the heading they feel is most appropriate.

It is important that it is not just viewed as an activity to be ticked off; if there are any areas that need exploring further, this should take place. Staff should also ask questions to gain richer information e.g. if it asks about friends/teachers then ask the CYP which teacher/friend they are thinking of or ask why they have placed a particular card under a specific heading. The record forms included can be used to mark the CYP's responses during the activity and note down any comments/discussion that takes place.

Once completed the information should be considered to identify areas of need/strength and the most appropriate support. The CYP should also be asked if they have any ideas what might make things better/easier e.g. if they place 'maths' under hard, ask if there is anything that would make maths move to ok/easy. It is important that any views are shared sensitively with parents/carers, so the support agreed is consistent across contexts, and outcomes can be worked towards collaboratively.

Stage 6 – Summarising the Information Gathered and Action Planning

The following summary framework has been developed to help staff summarise exploration stages 2-5 in preparation for the action planning stage. This summary will also support with the analysis of all the information, to identify any needs.

It is recommended that the action planning takes place in a meeting with staff, parents/carers and any professionals involved. The following format could be undertaken during this meeting:

1. Share purpose and plan for the meeting
2. Discuss/share the strengths and interests of the CYP.
3. Share the summary of information gathered using pages 1-5 as a framework.
4. Check if anyone wishes to add any further information.
5. Based on the summary of information the group should agree identified needs and support/actions needed.
6. The support/actions needed should incorporate the 'do' stage of APDR. This should not solely include referrals and signposting; it should detail provision within school/home too.
7. Agree a review date.
